

ARRIVAL OF THE HUMBOLDT.

Additional Intelligence from Europe,

&c., &c., &c.

The United States mail steamship Humboldt, Capt. J. D. Lines, arrived here this morning, via Halifax, with the French and British mail.

She left Havre in the afternoon of the 13th ult., run across the British channel and anchored in Cowes roads till 4 P.M., on the 14th, when, having received the London mails of that day, sent via Southampton, she finally started.

On the day the Humboldt left Southampton, Lieut. E. H. McDonald, of Louisville, Ky., belonging to Capt. Ellis's company of Cuban invaders, arrived in the English steamer from Vigo, Spain, who reported that ninety-two of the American prisoners had been liberated and would leave for the United States in an American packet, about the 1st of February.

Owing to the season of the year, the Humboldt has only a small number of passengers, but brings a full amount of freight of a very valuable description, consisting of French, Swiss, and German manufactures, silk, &c., shipped at Havre, and said to be the value of over two millions of dollars.

Generals Changarnier, Lamoriciere, Bedane, and Ledo, and M. Thiers, had arrived in London, in consequence of their expulsion from France.

Accounts from Berlin of the 9th ult., mention the concentration of a large Russian army on the frontiers of the duchy of Posen.

The California gold mining shares were all neglected, and, in sympathy with the other departments of the Stock Exchange, a flat feeling was generally prevalent in London on the 13th ult. Agent Elias Anglo-Californians, English and Australian copper, and Nouveau Meadoes, amongst others, were all a shadow over. Golden Mountains were quoted par to 4 prem. British Australasia par to 5 prem.

The amount of the proposed New Belgian loan will, it is said, be 26,000,000 francs, and not 30,000,000 francs, as originally stated. It is to be raised in 5 per cent stock.

The steamship Europa, from New York, arrived at Liverpool on the 13th ult.

The Hanover journals of the 8th state, that a consultation of physicians and surgeons had just been held on the blindness of the King, and that all the members present, with the exception of Dr. Lewin, expressed an opinion that the m. lady is incurable.

The journals say the Poste de Tournay, announced a short time since, that a considerable legacy had been bequeathed to the Comte de Bucary, an Englishman residing at Paris. This news is now confirmed, and some inhabitants of Brussels, who are in a position to be well informed on the subject, affirm that the young Englishman, who it would appear had sought the Countess in marriage, although his offer was rejected, has bequeathed to her a sum of 600,000 francs, by a will in due form, which no one, hitherto, thinks of attacking.

Echelle's comet was seen at the Liverpool Observatory, on the 11th ult., at 7 h. 14 min. 17 sec. It was seen at Cambridge (Mass.), on the 13th.

We have London papers to the 14th ultime, inclusive, with letters and despatches from our various European correspondents of five days later date than those received by the Cunard steamer America via Boston, but not so late as three days, as the news published this morning, brought to Halifax by the Niagara.

England.

All ideas of the immediate re-construction or dissolution of the British ministry, are for the present abandoned. It is announced in the London Times that the Queen will open Parliament in person, on the 3d February, and that the present cabinet is determined, without further modification, to face the difficulties of the session of 1832. That the cabinet will long survive the assembling of Parliament is not pretended to believe, as it is thought that the explanations and recriminations on the subject of the dismissal of Lord Palmerston must prove a death-blow to Lord J. Russell's power. All the efforts of the Pretoria to bring about an understanding with the Peel party, with a view to a coalition government have failed, and Lord John Russell is left to his own resources, which may be said to be the contemptuous opposition of his adversaries, and the lukewarm support of the friends of a falling minister. In reference to the prospects of the ministry, the Times says:

"A session in which a new Reform Act is to be given to the kingdom, and a new charter to India, and which is to open a new era in the history of England, is to be the plaudit and Lord John Russell's deliverance; but about as absurd an aspect as any crisis can well have, in this great and rather small country. In the course of the next session, a minister who last year was the sport of the public, and the darling of the press, will be compelled to sit down in the same chair, and carry his measures in spite of the strenuous opposition of those who cannot afford either to confide, or to place beyond his control, and whom mutual jealousies alone keep from power."

The Marquis of Hastings, a son to the effect, that the part of Ambassador at Paris would probably be offered to him, if he did not accept the post of Minister in the case of Lord Chambord the Post-Master General, in case the Marquis of Normandy should vacate his post to enter the Cabinet. Lord Normanby had left Paris for a temporary return to London.

France.

Our advices from Paris, which extend to the 13th inst., contain the particulars of several acts of the government of considerable importance. Louis Napoleon is advanced in rank in his career of despotism. It is expected that the long delay in the publication of the decree of the bloodthirsty parades of Mars and Syria in the dying days of the Roman republic, the rolls of eminent Senators marked down for execution, and the like, will be the chief topic of the next session. The decree of 2d January, which was to have been passed in the 2d session, was to have been suspended, and the decree of 2d February, which was to have been passed in the 3d session, was to have been suspended, and the decree of 2d March, which was to have been passed in the 4th session, was to have been suspended, and the decree of 2d April, which was to have been passed in the 5th session, was
